Maybe you can delegate this, up to you. I need to get a list of all the ms-dos clones you know about. There is both a technical reason for this and a PR reason.

When people ask us about our ms-dos detection, we need to be prepared with a long list of clones that we don't test with. If the list is just 2, we will look bad. It's important that our toughest competitors get put on a long list with others instead of a short list by themselves.

Can you have someone send me mail on this asap.

thanks
