i disagree.

someone has to provide the dr-dos. either it's the oem or insignia. the fact that insignia would mention dr-dos as an option is "promotion" in my book.

i also don't believe that they really go thru a major test effort with softpc atop dr-dos so they ought to stay away from it.

hopefully, my message was legally correct and they will respond appropriately and to our satisfaction.

thanx. -bobkr

yes, it was phil bousfield.

insignia may not agree that they were "promoting" dr dos. but phil agreed that yes they do make sure insignia runs on drdos, that they tell oem's it runs on dr dos, and that oems can choose whichever they prefer.

i am not going to provide source code to someone who is out there promoting drdos.
