|no addl groups have been added. the team is merely making certain that
|committed disks in fact arrive.

|i turned down a request yesterday. i told them to wait until we have
|either a non-nda beta or an early experience program that is open to
|the general public.

||I received a call from Oscar Rosenbloom at Apple, 1 Infinite Loop, MS
||38-1, Cupertino, CA 95014. (408-974-5074), and they still have not
||received the two additional CDs for Beta 2. REmember that we decided
||that each permitted group within Apple would receive a separate CD?
||Lori, would you be the one to handle this? and if so, can you please

||call Oscar and tell him when he should expect to receive the copies?
| thanks.

||we had agreed a while back to provide apple with a separate CD for each
||of the "permitted groups". To date, those number 3. They would like 2
||more CDs, one for each of the remaining groups. Lori, didn't you
||provide them with 3 Beta 1 kits? thanks.

||For the publishing group... I do not understand. What do they want to do
||for Windows 95?
||

||As for beta-2, we released that to Openheimer(?), one of Bob's sites.
||along w/ the rest of the beta 2 kits. It's "in the mail."

||Can you comment on the possibility of adding the following groups:
||

- ||1. Image Displays group (responsible for developing cross-platform
||display devices such as monitors and projectors)
- ||2. Image Capture Group (responsible for developing cross-platform
||image capture devices such as cameras and document scanners)
- ||3. Publishing group (desktop publishing solutions)

||Also, the printer development groups has been trying to report to Erik
||Hokanson without any response. Can you confirm he is still is the
||correct person for them to work with?
||

||Finally, when can they get beta-2?
