He doesn't want to insert this code. As the site changes, this code will change. He wants to give it to someone at Primestream.

Richard has access to the 'live' files. He can fix it himself.

Richard has the launch template. He has to give it to someone to incorporate in the Web site. The Web site is still changing and someone has to be the owner to incorporate this insertion.

Netscape - Richard fixed the Web site so you can play a video using Netscape from the desktop but there is a problem with playing it over the Internet. We are trying to rule out equipment by putting the files on another server. Ed Lyons is trying to look at the Javascript errors.

Let me know to whom we can send Richard's template; i.e. who owns the Web pages.

Will keep you posted.

Yep, I have no idea what was wrong other than the videos didn't play.

Just to make sure. Are we talking about the Primestream demo pages? Also, Richard hasn't come back from lunch yet. Can I get access for Ed Lyons, if Richard doesn't return soon.

June,

Richard has access to all the pages., I tried all the pages here this morning, none of them were working(Netscape or IE). The download of the bridge has not been implemented to my knowledge.

We don't know what they are running. Richard fixed Netscape problems in the Primestream's Web pages. Ed Lyons wonders if they put a download in their Web page. We need to see the Web pages or get access to them. I have people ready to work on the problems if they are real problems.

Thanks.

Things seem to be heating up.

Any ideas on how we can pull the team together to resolve these issues?

Dear Frank:

Your company needed the PO and I gave it with trust, however today I received a call from the Chairman of the Board of our parent company telling me very upset that he tried to show the Primestream Video Solutions to one group of friend and that the site was not working, he told me in textual words " If Burst is not ready let's forget about them for the mean time".

I cant stress how important is the Netscape solution as well as the user being prompted to load the Burst bridge, I sent by now about ten emails to your team and no solution has been given to the problems, please help me because this will end up hurting us both and in a very short term.

If you think is necessary I will send an email to Richard Lang telling him that Burst is not moving at Web speed but at turtle speed.

Monday is the last date I can give Burst to solve ALL THE PROBLEMS, if you cant have this done by Monday then I will be forced to take action and send you some contingencies and conditions to the PO, I want to help but your people are taking me to the limit of loosing my credibility and if that happens I will be removed from my position and remain just as an investor.

Suggest that you do something now.

Best regards and thank you for your effort, by the way, who will be coming on Wednesday?

Claudio
