

From: James Root
Sent: Tuesday, November 06, 2001 4:52 PM
To: Dan Gehred
Subject: RE: MovieFix.com update

Oh yeah, that's part of the deal. It should be WinXP professional edition for encoding and Win2K advanced server serving.

We order stuff like this through <http://msmarket>. I'll place the orders and drop the software off when it comes in. I'll let Robert know it will be coming to me and I'll get it over as soon as I get it.

-----Original Message-----

From: Dan Gehred
Sent: Tuesday, November 06, 2001 4:35 PM
To: James Root
Cc: John Paddleford
Subject: MovieFix.com update

James,

Just to let you know if you don't know already, MovieFix received the check from MSFT today. (Robert was surprised that it happened so fast.) He is passing on my contact information to the tech person(s) there and one of them should contact me soon to get some assistance in specing out boxes for encoding and serving.

He did ask me about getting copies of the OS (XP for encoding and 2000 for serving? XP for both? I need to check into this). How do you want to handle getting him the versions of the OS he will need? Is this something I need to do?

Thanks,
-Dan

12/2/2003

Plaintiff's Exhibit
8371
Comes V. Microsoft

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT
10
Root

MS-CC-Bu 00000324189
HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL

MS-PCIA 5013117